Making “Plastic” - A Science Experiment

This week in our preschool class, we completed a science experiment where we made plastic! We needed vinegar, milk, measuring cups, mixing utensils and cookie cutters. We mixed the vinegar and milk together then poured the solution into cookie cutters to make different shapes. We then let it sit for a few hours. Children enjoyed being able to mix and pour by themselves. “I’m making plastic!”, said Harper.

Tissue Paper Pumpkins

Our preschool class recently visited the pumpkin patch. After learning about the life cycle of a pumpkin and how they grow, we created our very own pumpkins. We completed this craft using materials such as: tissue paper, glue, construction paper, and paper plates. Children loved this project and their favorite part was picking which emotion their pumpkin would have. "I'm going to make a happy pumpkin", said Amelia.

Q-Tip Art

Our class had some fun using Q-tips to paint! We learned that paintbrushes aren't the only tool that can be used to create art. The children took the Q-tips and dipped them in their desired color of paint. After spelling out their names, they followed the letters with the paint. Some glided the Q-tip on the letters while some made dot patterns. Owen said "Look! I painted O for Owen!"
