Enjoying Some Hot Chocolate

With all this frigid weather we've been having lately, we thought the kids deserved some hot cocoa to help warm them up. They had a great time comparing stories about the first time they ever had hot chocolate, and enjoyed the surprise of a few mini marshmallows on top of their warm drinks.

Gingerbread Houses

While many kids have made gingerbread houses before, a lot of kids have never made a gingerbread house from scratch, without the help of a kit. We provided the kids with a variety of materials and challenged them to design their own dream gingerbread house. It was so cool to see what kinds of designs the kids came up with!

Crazy Paints

This art activity is actually two activities bundled into one. The first part is making a brush out of a cardboard tube, and the second part is using that brush to paint with. The kids loved that not only did they get to make their own pictures, they got to keep their individually decorated paint brushes after they were all done!
