A is for Architect

We are starting a new month and a new year with our new study unit on Buildings. During this time, the Elms will explore structures and the related jobs, purposes, and materials. After our group discussion on the different types and uses for buildings, the children were invited to construct one of their very own, using pop sickle sticks. This artful introduction provided great practice for fine-motor skills and hand-eye coordination.

Sight Word Search

Ushering in all things new, the Elms have been introduced to four new sight words: Cat, Pie, Book, and Hat. After spelling and sounding out each word, the children were challenged to find all the letters in their word and arrange them in the correct order. This was a fun way to gage their letter recognition, as well as to impress upon their basic literacy concepts. We invite you to challenge your Elm to find these words in their books or around the home.

Important updates:

Dear Parents,

We will be starting a water challenge to promote health education, as well as basic math skills. We will be graphing how many cups/bottles of water each child can finish in a week. We invite you to bring in a fun water bottle to encourage your Elm.

Thanks for your support
 Ms. Keni, Ms. Narima, and Ms. Jhendy
